Clean sweep

Beach, city, county targeted in Sat. cleanup

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The county should shine a little brighter following a massive cleanup Saturday, September 18.

Volunteers will assemble from 8 to 9 a.m. at designated sites to begin the business of picking up. The Chamber of Commerce beautification committee is coordinating the event.

Cleanup day chairman Betsy Ashman said, "We have been very pleased with the wonderful cooperation we have received from the county supervisors, city governments, organizations and individuals. Everyone has shown willingness to work together to beat this litter problem."

The cleanup is in conjunction with a coastwide effort sponsored by the Mississippi Marine Trash Task Force, a coalition of federal and state agencies, industry, business and civic organizations.

Canvas tote bags featuring art by biologist Mark Grace will be given to volunteers while quantities last. T-shirts proclaiming "Litter Free and Proud To Be" are available at the Chamber office in adult ($8) and youth ($7) sizes.

Registration sites include the Uman Avenue Pier, Bay St. Louis; Save Our Children center, Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis; Garfield Ladner Pier, Waveland; Buccaneer State Park, Waveland/

Jail death ruled suicide

Bay man's mother seeks second autopsy

BY LIZ HAAS

A spokesperson for the Sunflower County coroner's office reported Parchman inmate Benjie Ray Singleton, 27, of Bay St. Louis, who was found dead in his cell Saturday, died by suicide by doxepin drug overdose.

Singleton's body was discovered by prison officials during a routine check of Unit 32 at 12:22 p.m. Saturday, according to Ken James, director of public relations for the Department of Corrections.

"He appeared to have died from natural causes," said James.

Singleton was a psychiatric patient who was being treated for a sleeping disorder and was taking daily doses of a sleeping sedative.

Singleton's mother wants to have a second autopsy done on her son.

Ophelia Singleton has asked Andrea Gibbs, founder of Victim's Voice, an inmate advocacy group, for help in seeking funds for the autopsy and finding someone to do it.

"We have a doctor and are trying to raise the necessary funds," said Gibbs.

Gibbs said the cost of the autopsy and flying the doctor in to do the autopsy would be $2,000 to $2,500.

"We would get someone from out-of-state so they do not bring any prejudice into the report," she said.

Funeral services are planned Saturday for Singleton.

"If we can get the doctor in before then, then we will go ahead with the burial; but if not, we will have the services and hold off on the burial," said Gibbs.

Singleton was serving a life sentence for capital rape. He was convicted in Hancock County of raping his 12-year-old cousin in 1988.

He was sentenced from Hancock County to Parchman in July, 1989.

"They have not released the cause, and nothing official yet," said Gibbs.

Gibbs said Singleton's death is the fourth in Unit 32 since May of last year, and the second within two months.

"Anyone with any sense can look at the pattern and realize that four dead from the same Unit in little over a year means something must be going wrong there," she said.

Gibbs pushed for a Justice Department investigation into the July hanging death of Parchman inmate Cedric Walker of Bay St. Louis.

Jackson pathologist Rodrigo Galvez, who determined the cause of death as asphyxia by hanging, found a note in Walker's clothing listing persons who should be questioned if anything happened to him.

MRI

HMC to offer diagnostic service

Hancock Medical Center will begin using a new diagnostic imaging procedure which will allow doctors to see inside the body without the use of surgery or radiation.

The procedure, "Magnetic Resonance Imaging" (MRI), uses magnetism and radio frequency energy to take two and three dimensional images. According to Don Henderson, hospital administrator, the procedure is safer than an x-ray because it does not use radiation.

The images which look similar to x-rays, also provide more

Project New Start

Bay High offers individualized program to at-risk students

BY LIZ HAAS

Bay High School Principal Sandra Prator and alternative classroom teacher Jody Bechman gave an update to the Bay-Waveland School Board Monday on "Project New Start."

"We call it this because we hope that's what these students will get, a new start," said Prator.

"We have tried to come up with a program to meet the needs of all at-risk students, those who are at-risk to drop out, or be unsuccessful behaviorally and/or academically," said Prator.

A screening committee, made up of the principal, a junior high teacher, a senior high teacher, the alternative teacher and a counselor, has been established to determine if a student should be placed in the program.

"We are going to take each child individually, look at his needs and service them. No two students will receive the exact service because it is so individualized," said Prator.

Prator said a student who has problems with only two classes may be pulled from the regular classroom for those two classes and taken into the alternative classroom.

Bechman will work with each teacher to make sure students are keeping up with classroom assignments.

"I have tried to take what you have now, which is a very impressive program, and add a little networking and the alternative classroom to pull it all together," said Bechman.

"Our aim to put a student there, help him to be successful and when he's ready to go back to the regular classroom, we will ease him back into it."

"We are going to track these students once they return to agency for the project.

The original estimate for the project was $50,385.

The commission approved a resolution authorizing executive director Buz Olsen to execute the FAA grants for fencing and signing on behalf of the commission.

Gulf Coast Visitor

Tourist, entertainment guide planned by Sea Coast Echo

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Sea Coast Echo has announced the publication of a new monthly magazine-format tourist guide.

The Gulf Coast Visitor will be distributed free at hotels, welcome centers, chambers of commerce and tourist attractions. An initial press run of 25,000 copies is planned, according to Randy Ponder, Echo general manager.

The 8 1/2" x 11" format will be printed on heavy premium newsprint with process color. It will include all the information tourists need to ensure a pleasurable trip to the Coast.

Feature stories of local events and attractions will be combined with complete listings of casinos, restaurants, hotels, theatres, festivals, museums, transportation schedules and more.

"We are really excited about the Gulf Coast Visitor. It will be a great opportunity for advertisers to reach the tourist market," said Ponder.

"We expect circulation to exceed 50,000 copies by spring of '94."

The publication will be independent of The Sea Coast Echo, although subscribers may pick up copies of the new magazine at various places in the county.

ON PATROL

FALSE PRETENSE/ FRAUD

Ken Talley, 50, of Diamondhead was arrested August 9 by the Hancock County Sheriff's Office and was charged with one count of false pretense, according to Investigator Matt Karl.

Talley was arrested and incarcerated under a $5,000 bond. He was released after posting bond.

Karl reported the Sheriff's Office received a call from Acadiana Parish, Louisiana, police who said Talley was wanted there for similar charges.

The Sheriff's Office arrested Talley on Friday, September 10, and he was taken to Acadiana Parish and charged with one count of fraud.

Talley bonded out of jail. Karl said Talley, who is in the security surveillance business, was charged for falsifying contracts.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

Gary Leon Cox, 31, of Bay St. Louis was arrested September 12, 11 p.m. by Sheriff's deputies for aggravated assault.

Investigator Matt Karl said, "He came home drunk and beat up his 26-year-old girlfriend with a boot and some type of metal gun."

Karl reported her jaw was broken in three places. She also has a broken wrist and numerous bruises and cuts.

Cox is incarcerated in the Hancock County Justice Facility under a $5,000 bond.

The couple had recently moved here from Alabama.

Deputy Terry Robinson made the arrest.

class to make sure they are successful," said Prator.

The program will include computer and motivational instruction and some vo-tech training.

"This is going to be a program within the school. We want to keep our students here," said Bechman.

"We will have no expulsions for behavioral problems unless the students first goes through the program. We will do everything for the students that we can," said Prator.

She said, "The bottom line goal is to try to get them a reason to want to come to school and to want to be successful."

Superintendent Paul Tisdale said, "There will be a screening committee to get in, and an individualized educational program and some way to measure their skills to exit the program."

Prator and Bechman asked two board members to serve on the advisory board for the alternative school. Linda Penrose and James Wilcox volunteered.

Mike Pernicaro asked the board to approve a girls soccer team for the 1993 school year. He presented a petition of 30 girls who wanted to be part of a soccer program at Bay High School.

Pernicaro coaches a girls summer soccer team that consists of many girls from Bay High School.

He said the Coast teams will start putting together schedules next month.

"The only expense would be the cost of uniforms, which, in recreation, costs an average of $30 per girl," he said.

The board took under advisement creating a girls soccer team.

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce executive director

Cindy Vernon asked the board's help in a coast-wide recycling effort to recycle telephone directories in the month of October.

The Chamber is sponsoring the drive to encourage citizens to recycle their telephone books. Hancock County collected five tons last year with one site.

"Last year, Harrison County had its schools participate. Of 67 tons collected there, 36 were collected at the schools," said Vernon.

She asked the board to help in the transportation of the directories from the schools to central dump sites in Gulfport.

"There is cash available through our corporate sponsors to schools that participate," she said.

HMC has contracted with Mobile Technology Inc. of Los Angeles, California to provide magnetic resonance imaging services at our hospital.

Initially the MRI scanner will be available at HMC on Fridays and MRI services are now being scheduled for this month.

The hospital already has a full time CT scanner at site. MRI does not fully replace CT but complements it.

MRI is useful in identifying various types of cancer as well as multiple sclerosis. It is also very useful in spinal cord imaging.

Continuing rapid and technological advances in MRI will lead to improved images and new applications which HMC will implement as they become clinically useful.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

As we move into mid-September, high school football is still going strong in Hancock County.

Bay High, Hancock High and St. Stanislaus will all see action Friday night.

St. Stanislaus will play host to the Hawks of Hancock High, while Bay High will travel to Greene County.

Hancock will be ready for the Rock-A-Chaws, and this should be an interesting game.

It seems both teams are always up for the annual encounter.

Last week the Tigers gave the Pirates of Pass Christian their first loss of the season, scoring 33 points to the Pirates' 7.

Bay High is now 1-1 for the season and should be ready for Greene County.

Hancock, 1-2 for the season, is looking to even their record, while Stanislaus, 0-3, is seeking its first victory.

Both Stanislaus and Hancock were up against 5-A rated schools last week. The Hawks bowed to a strong Picayune 18-0 and Stanislaus fell to a powerful Biloxi 24-7.

I hope to see you at the game Friday night. Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m.

It is always good to get away from it all for a few days on vacation.

On the other hand, it takes some time to catch up when one gets back.

Jane and I returned late Tuesday night after being gone for a week, and I will be playing catch-up for several days.

I will try and mention some about the trip in Sunday's column.

The 16th Annual Republican Cookout is scheduled for Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. at Dr. A.K. Martinolich's home.

Guest speakers this year will include U.S. Senator Trent Lott and State Public Service Commissioner Curt Hebert. Hancock County's own State Senator Bill Johnson's Band will provide entertainment.

This is a good time to see Senator Lott and Commissioner Hebert, as well as State Senator Johnson. It is always good to have conversation with elected officials and to express feelings about issues they are facing.

I am sure they like to have local input in order to help them make those important decisions.

I hope to see you at the cookout.

There is a $5 per person donation for the cookout dinner.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Winning students make school worth supporting

To the Editor:

In response to a letter printed Sept. 9 concerning St. Stanislaus' football program, we have the following comments.

The hallmark of any school is not a winning tradition in athletics, but a winning tradition in education, which includes discipline, values, morals, leadership and sportsmanship.

These are the reasons for supporting your school. If they have a winning team, that's great; but if they have winning students, they have achieved their goals.

Regardless of whether they win or lose, we will always support St. Stanislaus for their excellence in education.

Sincerely,
Dutch and Kay Kihnemann

Waveland citizens can use recycling drop-off centers

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to a recent letter to the editor regarding the need for a recycling program in Waveland. It may take an extended period of time to build public consensus, political will and the necessary funding for a city-wide recycling program in Waveland.

In the meantime, I would like to encourage the citizens of Waveland to use the recycling drop-off centers which are part of a rural recycling demonstration project sponsored by Hancock County and funded by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality, with matching funds and weekly service from Gulf Coast Recycling.

The drop-off centers most easily reached by Waveland residents are located at the county-run convenience center at Washington Avenue and Chapman Road in Bay St. Louis, and at the south gate of the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Hancock County residents may deposit aluminum beverage cans, metal food cans, newspapers, clear, green and brown glass bottles and jars, plastic soft drink bottles and HDPE #2 plastic bottles and milk jugs in the clearly marked containers at each site.

Waveland residents who work at the John C. Stennis Space Center can deposit their household recyclables at the Stennis drop-off center on their way to and from work.

The drop-off centers are "open" (accessible) to the Hancock County residents seven days a week. The Washington and Chapman site is open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the Stennis site is accessible any time.

There are handy instruction cards available at each drop-off site, which recyclers can take home and post on the refrigerator door.

For any questions about the recycling drop-off centers, call Gulf Coast Recycling at 467-9268. I hope this helps the citizens of Waveland, until you have a city-wide recycling program of your own.

Sincerely,
Pam Firmin

Playing the game is what it's all about

Dear Editor,

My son is a graduate of St. Stanislaus, "the school of character."

For almost 30 years, my family has attended as many of their activities as we could. It is our small way to show support for the school. There is no scale to measure the enjoyment we have received watching these young men grow, play, fight, sing, act and strive to be the best they could be... under the guidance of a proven system.

"He writes, not that you win or lose but how you play the game." This is what SSC is all about! Please read, "He Who Knows."

Sincerely,
Pat Wilson
Bay St. Louis

Would a forceful name make the difference?

Dear Editor,

Excuse my ignorance. What are Rock-A-Chaws? I can't find it in any of my dictionaries. I know that's what St. Stanislaus calls its football players, but mostly they call them Rocks.

Rocks aren't very mobile. They just set there like — well — pet rocks when they should be zooming like rockets. It's about time they swap their rocks for rockets.

Teams with ferocious-sounding names like tigers, rams and lions or macho names like Buffalo Bills, Cowboys and Forty-niners appear to have a psychological advantage.

There are some exceptions. The Miami Dolphins are named after a gentle but intelligent fish and are successful.

I can visualize an LSU coach admonishing one of his charges with "You are a tiger, so play like one." But on the other hand, can you imagine a Tulane coach exclaiming, "You are a wave, so play like one?"

For those too young to remember, a wave was a lady sailor in World War II.

If simply changing to a savage name to improve their record, St. Stanislaus should not let tradition stand in the way.

Sincerely yours,
Nicholas T. Haas Jr.

Disparaging remarks about N.O. were uncalled for

Dear Editor,

In reference to Mr. Nicholas Haas Jr.'s letter about the location of the Mississippi Landing Casino, I feel that his favorable comments were well stated.

I do, however, resent his degrading remarks about New Orleans. I was born and reared in New Orleans and I miss the culture, entertainment, music and all-around ambiance of that city.

True, all big cities have their problems, but I feel the writer's negative view of New Orleans was totally unnecessary and in poor taste.

Others interested in Waveland recycling

To the Editor:

Good for Ada Kohr... asking for a recycling program for Waveland.

I had already made it known to City Hall that I really feel we need one (and also a sewer down my street), so how can the mayor say that "no one is interested?" I say that she is the one "not interested."

Safe parking, boardwalk essential at Waveland beach

To the Editor:

Waveland has often been described as a summer sojourn, a retreat for New Orleansians, a place of whispering waters and precious solitude for those who choose to live here.

When the question of saving our beach road comes up, I wonder if the decision makers of our community consider the needs of residents and visitors. It is far too important a resource to go for the quick and obvious answer: creation of more sand beaches.

Just throwing more sand along the shore doesn't take into account the endless ways the people of Waveland use their waterfront.

It's amazing, but there are as many, if not more, people recreating on the beach road as there are on the sand beach: joggers pushing baby carriages; youngsters on training wheels; couples and family groups strolling; dog walkers and speed walkers; touring and racing cyclists; men, women and children in umbrella-shaded chairs fishing from the seawall; horseback riders; and even skaters on roller blades. The list is endless.

Let's get these people of our community away from the dangers of the road! Didn't we see enough traffic accidents this past summer, some involving children trying to cross the beach road? And just imagine the vehicle traffic once the casino at Bayou Caddy opens! Are we planning now? Are we allocating funds now?

Just throwing sand at it can't be the only way to save our beach road. Now, when our county has increased revenue, is the time to "consider alternative supporting structures for the road with a boardwalk and parking bays.

We all have to recognize the insanity of ignoring the need for safe parking areas that would not require walking across Beach Blvd.

Why not replenish only those beach areas where remnants of sand remain, and then create a walking, biking, fishing boardwalk from Coleman Avenue to Buccaneer Park?

Such a master plan would benefit the entire county by giving it a unique shoreline unlike the rest of the Mississippi Coast and perhaps revitalize Waveland's business district on Coleman Avenue — and save some lives along with our Waveland heritage.

Yours truly,
Sheila McCarthy

Senior citizens would gladly pay for full-service gasoline

To the Editor:

I am one of the millions of handicapped senior citizens who is consciously attempting to live a normal life on my own with limited dependence on family and friends. Many of us live alone, but are not yet completely helpless or homebound.

We are able, and willing, to do many of the things we have always attended to on our own. I hope to continue doing things for myself as long as I am capable of doing so.

One of my outstanding gripes, however, is the obvious discrimination of the big oil companies who, through their so-called "service stations," have chosen to replace all full-service gas pumps with "self-service" pumps.

This move also eliminates such services as checking oil, tires, transmission fluid, water, cleaning windshields, and many other services necessary to maintain a vehicle.

As an 81-year-old woman, I am neither physically able nor mechanically capable of performing these tasks myself. Having been a credit card customer of two major oil companies for over 40 years, I truly appreciated those services, and willingly paid for them through higher pump prices and service charges.

The elimination of these services has made the credit cards virtually useless and has nearly made it impossible for me to maintain some semblance of independence. For without access to these services, I am forced to depend on relatives, friends, neighbors, or sometimes passers-by to help me.

To the best of my knowledge, there is no longer a full-service gas station within about 20 miles of Bay St. Louis. I think

Gainesville schoolhouse site of workshop

On September 14, the historic "Little Red Schoolhouse" of the former Gainesville, Miss., community was dedicated as the site of the first of 29 free education workshops offered for the school year by the NASA Teacher Resource Center at the John C. Stennis Space Center (SSC).

Upon its closing in 1962, students at the Gainesville school, which had served the community for many years, were relocated to Bay St. Louis schools.

Officials from the Stennis Space Center, along with historian Mack Herring, dedicated the schoolhouse at 9:30 a.m., followed by the beginning of the workshop. Dr. David Powe, NASA Education Officer at Stennis Space Center greeted local teachers.

The purpose of the workshop was to provide teachers with activities that develop students' basic process skills and an understanding of patterns in mathematics through the use of hands-on activities.

Coast pledge center raises $8,366 for MDA

More than 200 Coast residents with Muscular Dystrophy will benefit from $8,366 raised at the MDA Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon Coast pledge center Labor Day weekend.

The drive, sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association, raised $6,300 in pledges and $2,066 in fish bowl funds.

The pledge center for the Mississippi Gulf Coast was at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis on Sunday, 6 p.m. to Monday, 6 p.m.

The total raised for MDA by the Waveland Civic Association for the year was $20,709.

"This include other projects we did to raise money for MDA like our shamrock sale, road blocks with the fire department, our auction and the "Most Wanted" project we did with Casino Magic," said Louie Smolensky of the Waveland Civic Association.

He said, "All the money we raise stays on the Coast and is spent on our summer camps, clinics and to help Coast residents who have MD."

Smolensky said he hopes there is a big enough pledge center next year to have live TV coverage.

In addition to funding major research for the cause and cure of such diseases, MDSA also helps provide direct patient services in the form of orthopedic appliances and aids such as wheelchairs, braces and lifts. They also hold clinics and have a free summer camp.

LOCAL BRIEF

Rev. Robert Kitchens will discuss witchcraft, satanism, and the invasion of Paganism on a global scale September 19 at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the First United Pentecostal Church in Waveland.

that it is ironic that gas stations are required by law to provide restroom facilities for the handicapped, but are not required to pump gas for the handicapped!

In an area with a high percentage of senior citizens and retirees, there are precious few local businesses who still provide any services, and the few who do go out of their way to accommodate senior citizens are truly appreciated.

I am a fairly recent transplant to the Gulf Coast from inland, rural Mississippi. I want to make it clear that I am not complaining that the local authorities are negligent or irresponsible, but I am simply trying to point out that a large number of senior citizens live here and are being unfairly lost in the shuffle of the recent local economic progress and expansion.

Although I specifically complained about discrimination at the hands of big oil companies, the problems I cited are not limited to the local area, and are certainly not limited to the big oil companies.

I could also complain about insurance companies, the medical and pharmaceutical businesses and others who take advantage of us all. Everyone will be a senior citizen someday. Everyone should be interested in correcting these wrongs.

Although the majority of those in my age group live on fixed and limited incomes, we are willing to sacrifice to pay a reasonable sum for certain needed services.

Now we find that the services are not available at any price, or we are grossly overcharged for the services. In many cases, we are charged for services promised, then find that the service has never been performed.

It is my understanding that by law in most states even small independently-owned business establishments are required to provide certain accommodations for the handicapped, such as parking areas, easy-access entrances, and a limited amount of personal attention. I believe that the handicapped, whether senior citizens or not, are people who deserve service and consideration and have earned it.

Sincerely,
Joyce S. Davis

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

JOIN THE ARMY

Saturday, Sept. 18, for four hours, a volunteer army of thousands of people will sacrifice a part of the weekend to restore the beauty, cleanliness and safety of 4,500 miles of America's coastline and inland waterways.

The beaches on the Sound and the barrier islands will be of primary concern, and Paul Bode of Pass Christian is the Coast's cleanup chairman for 1993.

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's beautification committee is sponsoring the countywide cleanup.

The Rotary Club of Diamondhead and the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association have jointly adopted the Diamondhead I-10 interchange and need and welcome volunteers to meet at Peoples Bank at 8 a.m. for trash bags, etc.

Let's all make an effort to do our share. See you there!

AWARD

The Diamondhead community has a Hawaiian motif and Hawaiian street names (which are confusing sometimes) and now a lovely business and professional park, called Indian Hill is being developed by Jon Ritten.

"It's a developer's dream. You have a beautiful community and everything in the world going for you, and you have an opportunity to really do something nice," said Ritten.

"The property at or near the confluence of three Indian trails is Diamondhead 'crossroads' even today." What more appropriate name than 'Indian Hill.' Congratulation to Jon on being presented the chamber of commerce's beautification award. Keep up the good work.

D'HEAD PAS

The Diamondhead Performing Arts Society has once again treated its season and other ticket holders to a wonderful performance at the Diamondhead Country Club. Those who were in the audience last Sunday evening saw a marvelous transformation as Dennis Assaf, the Jefferson Symphony Orchestra, Da Dennettes, Da Deaftons, Nancy Assaf and her magnificent voice, brought us back to So. Philadelphia 1957-1964 with their production of "Denny Discuvas Da Owchestra."

Who would have ever thought to see Jefferson Sheriff Harry Lee's motorcycle riding up the aisle in the club. Bravo, bravo! Watch this column for another "great talents" coming on Oct. 22.

WALKTOBERFEST

The American Diabetes Association's "Walktoberfest" is Saturday, Oct. 2. Check-in time is 7:30-8:30 a.m. at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum. Walkers and many volunteers are needed to walk and work together for a cure of this dread disease.

Call Joel of the Diamondhead Diabetic Support Group at 255-9308 for more information or the Walktoberfest's hot-line, 1-800-232-8393. Let's join up on the road to a cure!

D'HEAD BOATERS LISTEN

Don't forget, your reservations and payment to the Diamondhead Boaters Association gala barbecue feast Saturday, Sept. 25 at 3 p.m. 'til must be received by no later than Sept. 18.

You are welcome to bring two non-member guests to this event. Cost is $15 per person. The place is McLeod Water Park (large pavilion).

The menu consists of roasted pig, barbecued chicken, carved sides of beef with all the fixings and mixings. Sounds like mmmmm good! Ya'll come now.

D'HEAD AARP

LTC Gale Carter with Storm

Trackers and Hurricane Hunters of the 403 Airlift Wing at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, gave a very interesting presentation on hurricanes at the Sept. 7 AARP meeting.

Hurricane season is with us through November. Let's not let down our guard and stay prepared.

HAPPY FEET

The Diamondhead Dancers, with Charlie and Ruth Olivier leading the way, will be entertaining the folks at the Woodland Village Nursing Home Wednesday, Sept. 15. This active group is busy planning its first social, a covered dish supper at the Oliviers' home on Diamondhead Drive East.

For some great exercise and fun, join Charlie and Ruth at the community center on Tuesday at 2 p.m. and Wednesday nights at 7.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

The Diamondhead Academy's PTO is busy planning activities for the coming year. Mark your calendars and wish for good (and cool) weather for the annual Arts and Crafts Show to be held on the grounds in front of the Diamondhead Community Center Sept. 25 and 26.

This event, benefiting the school, gets bigger and better every year.

Diamondhead Academy parents, where are you? Your help is greatly needed at 'Bingo America.' All proceeds are going to the academy. Please call the school and volunteer your services. A big thank you to those who do.

D'HEAD COMMUNITY CHURCH'S DO-GOODERS

Hum along with Patty Price while she sings the praises of the fine group of folks who serve at the Food Pantry in Bay St. Louis. The chairman of the pantry applauds the support of the church for its donations and the outstanding work of its dependable volunteers. Patty believes that the congregation should join in applauding the unselfish dedication of time and effort of these members whose names are listed in the church's Sept. bulletin. Good job, Patty and folks!

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

God may be invisible, but He's in touch. You may not be able to see Him, but He is in control. And that includes you — your circumstances. That includes what you've just lost. That includes what you've just gained. That includes all of life — past, present and future. Give someone a gift of love, and have a wonderful week.

Annual Celtic Festival planned
October 2 at Coast Coliseum

The fourth annual Highland Games and Celtic Festival fielded by the Highlands and Islands Association of Celtic Gatherings will be Saturday, Oct. 2 in Biloxi.

The event is being staged for the second year in front and inside the fence of The Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center on US-90 across the street from Beauvoir, the final home of Confederate States President Jefferson Davis.

Carl Peterson of Renfrew.

Scotland headlines an outstanding array of professional talent. His latest album, Songs of the South (accompanied by bagpipes and banjos) will be on sale.

Other entertainers include Gramarye of Jackson and the Louisiana Twelfth Strings.

On the program are demonstrations by Deep South Paso Fino Club, English hunters and sheep herders utilizing collie dogs. Also planned are country and highland dancing, piping competition, athletics, the Pineywoods Cloggers of Picayune and Renaissance fortune tellers, vendors, wizards and dancers of Daphne, Ala.

The Grand Parade of Tartans, led by massed pipe bands, will start "up in the clouds" — curl through the Coliseum's outside lobby and circle completely around the field before coming to rest in front of the main stage.

Diamondhead hosts WSGA tournament

BY LIZ HAAS

The Diamondhead Country Club will host the Women's Southern Golf Association 8th Senior Amateur Tournament October 19-21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The tournament, played on the Cardinal course, will consist of 128 women, 50 years and older. The format, championship flight through Flight 7 by handicap, is three days of stroke play with shotgun start.

Last year's tournament was in Jackson.

"That's two years in a row in Mississippi. We're very proud of that because they do round robin this tournament," said Margaret Hill of Diamondhead, local co-chairman.

"We are thrilled and excited. This is such an honor to have the WSGA pick our site to host this event," said Marje Millar of Diamondhead, publicity chairman.

Members of the Diamondhead Women's Golf Association are working on the event.

"Anyone interested in watching this event is welcome to come. They will see some really good golfers from across the southern states," said Hill.

The WSGA encompasses 15 Southern states and the District of Columbia. Organized in 1911, it is the second oldest women's amateur golf association.

The southern states include Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The WSGA began its senior championship tournament in 1986, with Palm Beach Polo and Country Club as the site of the initial tournament, held in October.

Hill said, "We've got a quality course for them to play, the Cardinal course."

Tournament chairman is Myrt Majure of Jackson. Co-chairmen are Ann Louise Ashbaugh of Baton Rouge and Hill.

Majure, from the Jackson County Club in Jackson, will be among the 128 golfers.

Diamondhead golf pro Phil Hill is coordinating the event.

"He has been very busy preparing the course and working on the scoring," said Hill.

Local participants are:

—Representing Pass Christian Isles, Mamie Calmes of Pass Christian, Joan Hart of Pass Christian, Perk Landry of Bay St. Louis, Iva May McDonald of Bay St. Louis and Terry Scott of Pass Christian;

Marje Millar and Margaret Hill

—Representing Hickory Hills Country Club, Rowena Vance of Ocean Springs; and —Representing Diamondhead, Ann Ashbaugh.

Defending champion, Peggy Brass, of the Rolling Hills Golf Course, Orlando, Fla., comes to the tournament with a 1.4 handicap.

Golfers will arrive Sunday, Oct. 17. On Monday, they will have a practice round.

"This is wonderful because it brings tourists to the Coast," said Hill.

Casino Magic is hosting a cocktail party for the participants Monday night at the casino. Tuesday night, there will be a reception for the golfers at the Diamondhead Country Club from 6 to 7 p.m.

Thursday will be the awards luncheon at the country club.

The Super Senior trophy, started in 1988, will be awarded to the contestant, age 70 and over, with the lowest gross score.

Past winners of this award who will be playing in the tournament are Bety Roasch of Sugar Land, Texas, Alice Albert of Baton Rouge, La., and Maxine Gilmore of Vienna, West Virginia. Barbara Russell of Clearwater, Florida, is also a past winner of this award.

Part of the registration fee goes toward a scholarship program. The first scholarship was awarded in 1971 to Hollis Stacy to assist in going to the USGA Junior Championship. Current awards are given to four girls annually.

Picayune the site of 10K run, racewalk

The third annual Picayune Rotary Club Fall Classic, sponsored by Crosby Memorial Hospital, will be Saturday, Oct. 23 in Picayune.

Events will include a 10K run, 5K racewalk and one-mile fun run/walk.

Fees are $10 if pre-registered by Oct. 9 and $12 after Oct. 9. The race course is a scenic route through residential Picayune and proceeds go to Rotary Club charitable services.

The one-mile run begins at 8 a.m., the 10K run at 8:30 and the 5K racewalk at 8:40. All racers receive a long-sleeve T-shirt and complimentary food after the race. Cash prizes and medallions are awarded in masters, grand masters, age brackets, wheelchair and children's categories.

Send pre-registration to P.O. Box 1152, Picayune, MS 39466 or call David Guizerix at (601) 798-4881 for more information.

The Bob Harmon Forecast

College Football Highlights

For Sept. 18

This week Florida State faces its first real challenge of the season: a game against another member of the Top 20, North Carolina, in Chapel Hill. Last year the Tar Heels met up with the Seminoles in the wrong place at the wrong time — in Tallahassee, Fla., the week after Florida State's frustrating 19-16 loss to Miami — and the Seminoles beat up on them, 36-13. But the Heels had nothing to be ashamed of. Since N.C. bottomed out at 1-10 in 1989, it has made a dramatic turnaround, improving to 8-3 last year and beating Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl. Tar Heel fans might never have imagined this a few seasons ago, but Florida State looks only nine points better.

In a game that looks even closer, Southeastern Conference Eastern Division rivals Tennessee and Florida face off in Gainesville. The Gators, who finished first in the division last year, are looking for a payback after their '92 loss to the third-place Volunteers, 31-14, in Knoxville. This has been a win-at-home series in recent years — Florida won 35-18 in Gainesville in '91, and Tennessee embarrassed the Gators in Knoxville in '90, 45-3 — but we're picking the visiting Vols by five.

Elsewhere in the collegiate elite, the second-place finishers in the Big Eight and the Pac-10, Colorado and Stanford, meet in Palo Alto. These two teams have likewise beaten each other on their home fields the last two times they've met, but our three-point choice this weekend is the team on the road, the Buffaloes.

The potential surprise of the week? Big Ten runner-up Ohio State visits Pittsburgh. The Panthers are coming off a dismal 3-9 season in which they finished sixth in the Big East, but they looked like a brand-new team under new coach Johnny Majors when they stunned Southern Mississippi two weeks ago. The Buckeyes should win, but it probably won't be easy.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Sept. 19-20

Dallas, 27—Phoenix, 19

The Cowboys have won five straight from the Cards since 1990, including 31-20 and 16-10 victories last year. Poor Phoenix is coming off games with two other NFC East powers, Philly and Washington.

L.A. Raiders, 24—Cleveland, 20

Cleveland won this matchup last year, 28-16, the first time the Raiders and Browns had met in five years. The Raiders had flashes of brilliance in their stunning upset of Minnesota two weeks ago.

New Orleans, 32—Detroit, 23

In a 13-7 win in '92, the Saints had the Lions' number, not allowing Detroit beyond its own 34-yard-line the entire second half and controlling the ball for more than 40 of 60 minutes.

N.Y. Giants, 22—L.A. Rams, 16

Though they were brothers in mediocrity last year, the Rams registered a surprisingly easy 38-17 win over the Giants in Anaheim, with Jim Everett completing 18 of 21 passes. It's New York's turn.

Pittsburgh, 30—Cincinnati, 12

The Steelers breezed to two wins over Cincinnati in '92, allowing the Bengals only three field goals. Once again, Pittsburgh will be at the top of the AFC Central, and Cincinnati will not.

San Diego, 26—Houston, 24

When the Chargers visited Houston a year ago, both Warren Moon and the Oilers defense were hot, and they shut down San Diego 27-0. The Chargers not only haven't forgotten, they've become contenders.

San Francisco, 31—Atlanta, 14

If the Falcons don't get off the plane in S.F., we won't blame them. In the space of three weeks in '92, the 49ers pounded them 56-17 and 41-3. S.F. has won seven of their last nine meetings.

Seattle, 16—New England, 7

The Seahawks have beaten the Patriots the last three times they've played, all of them in N.E., and Parcells' Pats still have a long way to go. The exciting rematch is only five weeks away.

Washington, 28—Philadelphia, 27

The toughest pick of the week, between teams that split their two games last year, Washington winning 16-12 in Washington and Philly winning 17-13 in Philly. The dogfight is on in the NFC East.

Kansas City, 27—Denver, 17

(Monday) John Elway three two TD passes in the last two minutes to lead the Broncos to a 20-19 win over the Chiefs in week five of '92. In the season finale K.C. got its revenge, bombing Denver 42-20.

(Open date: Buffalo, Chicago, Green Bay, Indianapolis, Miami, Minnesota, N.Y. Jets, Tampa Bay)

Hancock players walking on 'Air' thanks to Favre

Brett Favre, quarterback of the Green Bay Packers and a 1987 graduate of Hancock North Central High School, has donated Nike, top-of-the-line 'Air Extreme' football cleats to the varsity football team of Hancock High School.

Favre was recently featured in the August issue of 'Sports Illustrated' and is on the cover of the September issue of 'Beckett'.

His high school jersey, No. 10, was retired in a ceremony at Hancock High School in April of this year. On Sept. 18 the University of Southern Mississippi will retire his No. 4 jersey.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. "Tiiiieee, it's incredible, it's fantastic." That's the first words that greeted the Turtle when he drove into Bordages boat launch this past week.

What made this event all the more memorable is, the person who was doing all of this shouting and arm waving usually moves about half-turtle speed. He claims that he needs to conserve his energy for important things.

Anyway, Ringo was the most excited the Turtle has ever seen him. It took a little while to get him coherent, but when he finally calmed down, he related the following information: "the trout and reds are wall-to-wall in the Bob's Lake area. Man, you can walk from shore to shore and never touch the water just by walking on the backs of the fish."

Well, since Ringo is an honest fisherman and never stretches the truth; hardly ever; seldom maybe a little; never mind, the turtle felt he better get a little more information about these "wall-to-wall" fish in the Bob's Lake area.

It is reported that Hal Schumann fished the Bob's Lake area and Nine Mile Bayou this past week and had to change to a weedless prop in order to keep his prop from tangling in all of the red fish. Needless to say, he caught his limit in no time flat.

It is reported that the smallest one that he caught was 27 inches. Most of his tackle was lost trying to land some of the others that he hooked. Either he used tackle that was far too light or those were big fish, paw-paw.

It is the Turtle's understanding that he was using at least a 17-pound test line. So, those must have been some really humongous red fish. But the one that got away is always the biggest one, particularly if you use "bent hooks."

Gator Lee fished for flounder around the Long Point area and had a real problem. He had to go out and buy a longer ice chest when he got back to the landing.

It seems that the flounders that they caught would not fit in a standard 48-quart ice chest. Man, when you start to catch flounders that are too long to fit in a 48-quart ice chest you are starting to catch some really nice flounders. Flounders that big make really great filets.

Now for the big question. How in the world do you get to this fishin' spot? The answer depends on where you launch your boat. So, to make it simple, I suggest that you use Half Moon Island as your reference point.

It always helps to have a reference point that you can actually see at about your half-way point. I know that the Turtle needs one because he feels sure that his compass is incorrect after he loses sight of land. Anyway, you need to find the southwest corner of Gambler's Bend on Half Moon Island.

From this spot you take a compass heading of 150 degrees to bring you to the light at the mouth of Blind Pass. When you get to the light you need to go due south through Nine Mile Bayou.

You might take note that you won't be heading due south for long because the bayou makes some nice twists and turns. When you get out of the bayou, which only runs for about a half mile or less you will be in False Mouth Bay.

Once you pass the last small patch of grass you need to maintain a compass heading of 150 degrees to reach Redfish Bayou, or you can hold a compass heading of about 190 to bring you to Bob's Lake.

If you decide to try the Bob's Lake area, keep to the left side

Levy has served Gulf Coast for two decades

Since 1973, Duke Levy, owner and president of Duke Levy & Associates, P.A., a full service civil, engineering and land surveying consulting firm, has lived and worked along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Duke Levy & Associates, with offices in Waveland and Diamondhead, offers a full range of civil engineering and land surveying service.

"I specialize in design of wastewater treatment facilities and in design of residential subdivisions," said Levy.

Levy started his own business in 1989 in Diamondhead to provide professional engineering and surveying services for the local communities of Southern Mississippi and in particular, Hancock County.

"The main reason I wanted to start my own firm was to provide needed engineering and surveying services for Hancock County," said Levy.

He said, "I began to service more areas of the county, so I moved my main office to Waveland in November 1991 to be more county-oriented."

Duke Levy & Associates provides a complete and total approach to engineering projects from the conceptual and planning phase through the design and construction monitoring, as may be required by the client.

They provide services to both private and public concerns, with their main emphasis toward serving local municipalities.

They provide a full complement of services in land surveying and mapping, using advanced electronic survey equipment and computerized drafting.

"We specialize in subdivision design, lot surveys, acreage surveys and flood certificates," said Levy.

Bay Optical promises quick, quality service

Dr. Stan Newman, who has had a Biloxi office since 1984, extended his services to cover the Bay St. Louis area in 1991 when he purchased Bay Optical in Shieldsboro Square.

"We offer fast and accurate service on glasses and contact lenses, but we won't compromise the quality for speed or to meet a deadline," said Newman.

Bay Optical offers eye exams for all ages, including computer-assisted glaucoma evaluation and dilation to assess the external health of the eye.

They have a full line of frames and contact lenses in stock.

Newman offers all lines of designer frames and budget and economy wear. In addition, he has all no-line bifocals as well as the lighter, thinner and more modern lenses.

Bay Optical has a one year guarantee on all frames for breakage of any type. They carry about 600 frames.

"We accept Medicaid, Medicare, Casino Magic insurance and the Vision Service Plan, and we assist in the filing of insurance claims," said Newman.

Linda Kingston is the assistant optician.

Newman, a native of Picayune, earned a bachelors degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and got an O.D. from the University of Houston.

New principal Sandra Prator discusses goals, plans

BY AMY PICKICH

"I want Bay High to be a place where you want to come every day," new principal Sandra Prator told Bay High students on the first day of the 1993-94 school year.

Her goals for Bay High prove that.

The 33-year-old goal-oriented Natchez native brings new ideas and a new administrative style to the Bay St. Louis public school.

The administrator came to Bay High this year from Hastings High School in Aileaf, Texas, where she was assistant principal.

A graduate of Northeastern

Louisiana University, she received a master's degree in education from Houston Baptist University.

"I think the kids are interested in building traditions here," Prator said.

She said the community has been very supportive of her administration and her plans for Bay High.

Prator said she has no plans to revamp the present system. However, she does intend to look at some of the problems and make changes in the best interest of the instructional program.

DISCIPLINE

One of her short-term goals is to establish a more positive atmosphere where everyone feels comfortable learning.

She said some consider her authoritative or a strong disciplinarian, but flexible and approachable better describe her style.

"I'm very much a disciplinarian in terms of being a principal," she said. "I don't believe that quality instruction occurs until you have discipline in a classroom or in a school, and I feel a real obligation to the kids to provide them an atmosphere that is orderly in which everybody has the opportunity to learn."

"My primary goal is to establish a climate here so that all students can learn and all teachers can teach," she said. "And that's what I shared with them on the first day of school; that no student under any circumstances will be allowed to disrupt the learning of another person, period. Whatever it takes in that area is what we'll do."

The disciplinary measure she received the most calls about was not allowing students to wear hats on campus. But her reasons were soon supported.

Students are not allowed to wear hats only in the school buildings as a manner of courtesy.

Prator said she was told that in the past, some students had turned hat-wearing into a game-playing situation with teachers. Teachers would ask students to remove the hats, then put them on again when the teacher was not in the classroom.

"It was just something that I feel interfered with why we are here," she said. "And so I made a simple rule that hats are not allowed at Bay High, period."

The rule is any hat worn by a student will be taken and returned on the last day of school. So far she only has one hat.

Her theory is "people do what you expect them to do."

She said the rule has also helped relations between teachers and students because now more pleasant words are exchanged in the halls.

Jack Rivers, new assistant principal, said he shares many of Prator's instructional and disciplinary philosophies. He also said they were both very impressed with the student body at Bay High.

"She's a terrific lady and is doing a great job," Rivers said. "We have a good working relationship."

LONG-TERM GOALS

Her long term goals at Bay High include an alternative program for students not having success in traditional classrooms and advanced placement courses for college credit.

The alternative program will focus individually on students at risk of dropping out of school or failing, and help them with individual plans to solve the difficulties they are having.

Another of her long-term goals is to add an advanced placement course every year for the next couple of years to afford the students every opportunity available to them. This year an advanced placement course in English was established.

"I believe that we always, of course, treat all kids fairly, but that we don't necessarily treat all kids the same in terms of their instructional needs," Prator said of the programs.

"Kids learn differently and that's one of the things I want us to be looking at, to be more cognizant of and address."

OPEN DOOR

Self described as a "collaborative-type administrator," she believes problems are solved best by the people closest to the situation.

"I'm not extremely authoritative," she said. "I very rarely say, 'you will do this' or 'this is how it will be.' I tend to sit down and ask, 'okay, what are we going to do?'"

A hands-on approach in physics class.

Prator said she will be forming a parent advisory group in the future to bridge the communication gap between parents and administrators at the school. She said that open-door policy is the kind of relationship she wants to have with the community.

Another aspect she said she feels positive about is extracurricular activities at Bay High. She said the coaching staff has done a great job working with the students to keep things positive on campus.

"I'm an instructional administrator. I'm for the quality of an instructional program, but I also don't have my head in the sand. I know extra-curricular activities tend to affect your whole building. When they are successful and positive, your whole building tends to be. It pulls everything together," she said.

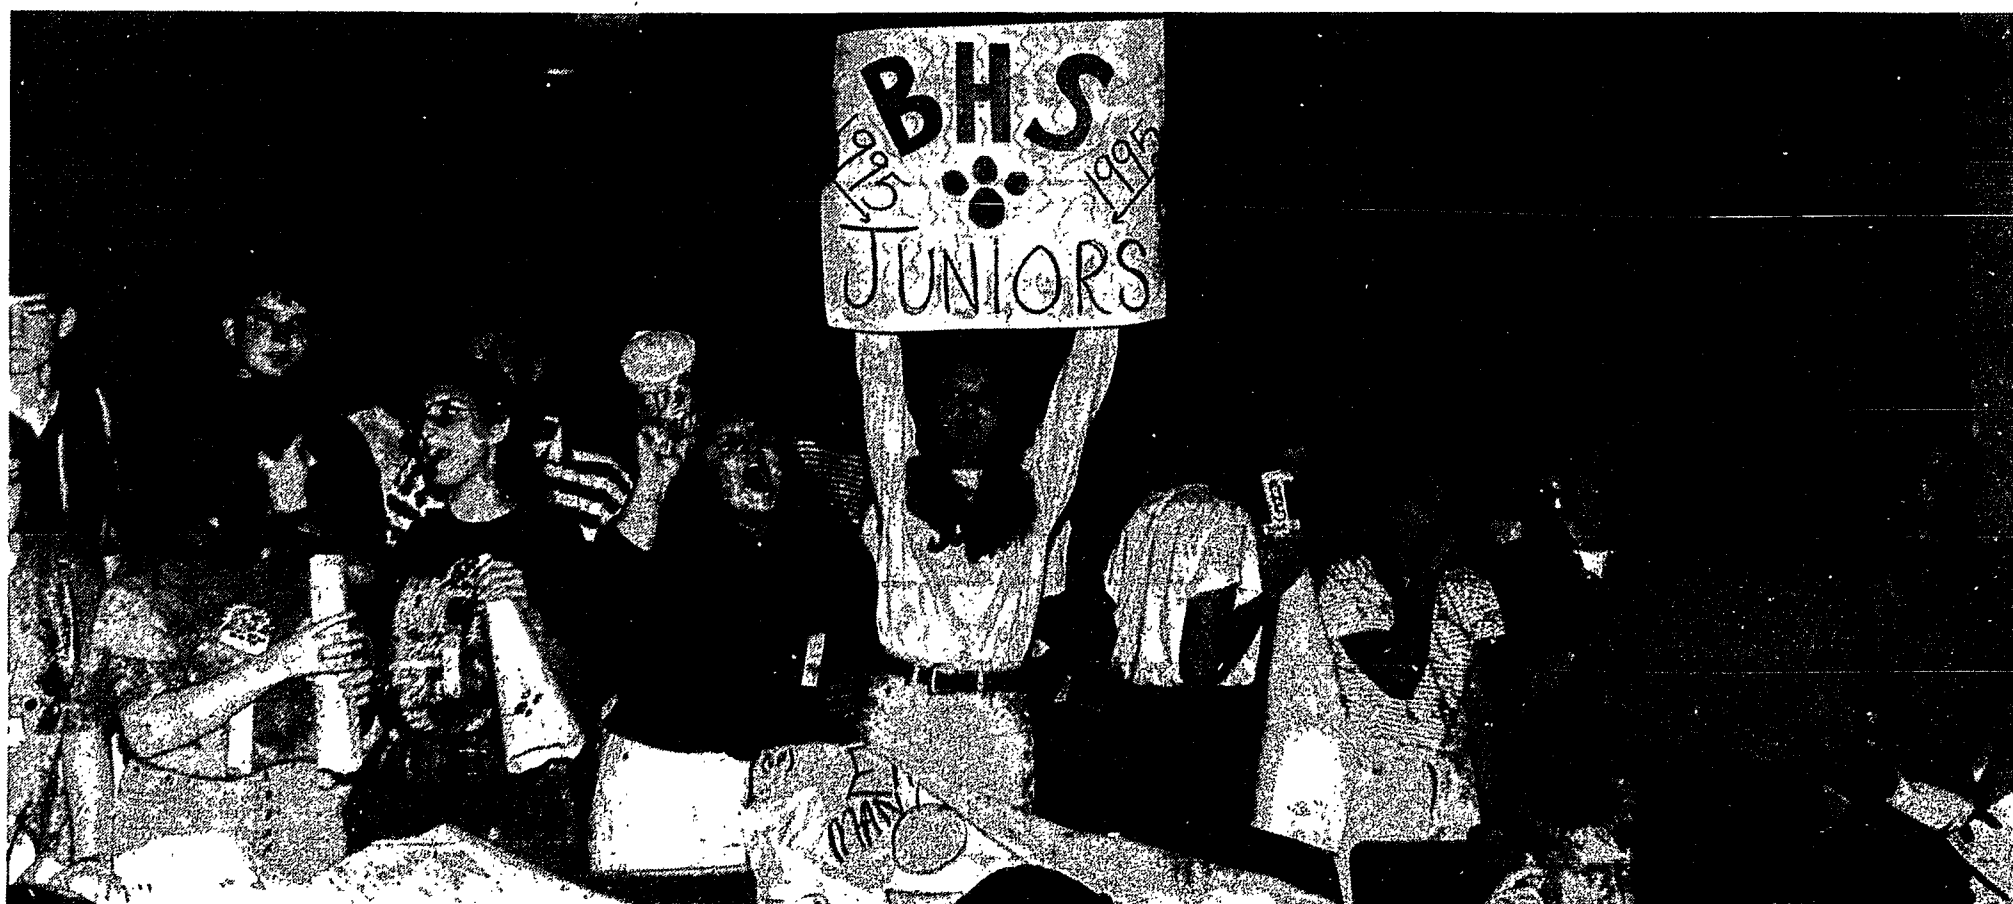

One thing Prator doesn't have is her head in the sand. She said when she became an administrator, she vowed to teach a class every five years so she doesn't lose touch with what goes on in the classroom.

"It definitely renews your respect for teachers," she said. "It also helps you to be more in touch with the needs of the instructional program."

Ultimately, her long-term goal stands, "to make Bay High the best instructional program on the Coast."

'Salute to Military' set September 21

The 15th annual "Salute to the Military" is set for Sept. 21 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum Convention Center, Biloxi. General Merrill A. McPeak, Air Force Chief of Staff, will be the featured speaker with special guests U.S. Senator Trent Lott and U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor. The event is open to the public. The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce sponsors the annual event which honors our nation's military service personnel. McPeak, the Air Force's highest ranking officer, was appointed Chief of Staff in October 1990 by President George Bush. As chief, he serves as the senior uniformed Air Force officer responsible for the organization, training and equipment of a combined active duty, Guard, Reserve and civilian force of over 850,000 people serving at approximately 1,300 locations in the United States and overseas. As a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he and the other service chiefs function as military advisers to the secretary of defense, the National Security Council and the president. He entered the Air Force in 1957 as a distinguished graduate of the San Diego State College ROTC program. He has commanded an Air Force wing, a numbered Air Force and, before becoming Air Force Chief of Staff, commanded the Pacific Air Forces, a major command. McPeak is a command pilot, having flown more than 6,000 hours, principally in fighter aircraft. He flew two years as a solo pilot for the elite aerial demonstration team — The Thunderbirds — and flew as an attack pilot and high-speed forward air controller in Vietnam. Doors will open for the Salute to the Military at 6 p.m. with the program beginning at 7. Fanfare and music will be provided by a component of the Command Band of the Air Force Reserve. Tickets for this event are available at all Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce offices. Tickets are $30 for civilians and $22 for active-duty military. Reservations can be made by calling the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce at 863-2933.

ASK THE V.A.

By Donald Mauffray

Prescription co-payment benefits described

Q. What is the prescription co-payment?

A. The prescription co-payment is a $2 charge assessed on each 30-day or less supply of medication furnished to veterans for treatment of a non-service-connected disability or condition.

Q. Why is a $2 co-payment required?

A. Public Law 101-508, enacted Nov. 5, 1990, requires VA to assess a $2 co-payment for each 30-day or less supply of medication furnished to veterans on an outpatient basis for treatment of non-service-connected disability or condition.

Q. Who is required to make this $2 co-payment?

A. Initially, the law required all veterans, except veterans with a service-connected disability rated at 50 percent or more, to make a $2 co-payment. Public Law 102-568, enacted Oct. 29, 1992, exempted veterans whose annual income does not exceed the maximum annual rate of pension payable to such veterans if they were eligible for pension.

Q. How will I know if I'm required to make the $2 co-payment?

A. At the time your prescription is issued a determination will be made as to whether you are required to make the $2 co-payment. Prior to issuing your medication, a statement of charges listing the medication(s) provided, and the amount, if any, you owe for those medications will be given to you.

Q. Will my medication be withheld if I am unable to make the co-payment(s)?

A. No. Medications will be issued regardless of a veteran's ability to make a co-payment. If a veteran is unable to make a co-payment for the prescriptions provided, an account will be established. This account is similar to credit card accounts or telephone and utility billing statements. A statement will be prepared and mailed to you at a later date for any unpaid balances listed in your account.

Q. When did the prescription co-payment requirements go into effect?

A. As stated above, Public Law 101-508 was enacted Nov. 5, 1990, and the first co-payment for prescriptions was assessed at VA medical centers in early May 1991.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Especially with medical bills...It pays to examine closely

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Money
Management Specialist

According to studies by both the federal government and Equifax Inc., from 98.1% to 99% of all medical bills contain errors. The average error was over $1,300.

Many consumers relegate the job of locating billing errors to their insurance company. However, if the insurance policy has a large deductible or a lifetime maximum of $250,000 to $500,000, the consumer as well as the insurance company, has a substantial stake to protect.

Until the deductible is met, any overcharges are paid by the patient/consumer. With a relatively low lifetime maximum, overcharges applied to that maximum, could cause the patient to exhaust his health insurance coverage prematurely.

How does the consumer make sense of a bill with lists of codes, technical terminology and acronyms? Some bills are difficult for the professionals to analyze.

Awareness of the most common problems can help in identifying errors. The National Emergency Medicine Alliance, a nonprofit consumer group, provides a listing of seven common categories of billing errors:

* Human error — did the keypunch operator enter $800 instead of $8.00?

* Duplicate billing — most common with minor items like aspirin. Cross-check bill for repeated items, watch for items or procedures billed a second time using different terminology.

* Unrequested items — Patients should watch items provided for them during a hospital stay. Small items are billed at high prices. Question items brought to you which you feel are unnecessary.

* Unauthorized charges — If advance approval for all tests is requested but extra tests are run without your permission, do not pay for the unauthorized charges.

Though you rely on the judgment of medical professionals for your care, it is your right to know in advance and approve the care given.

* Phantom charges — Many medical procedures have a variety of components. However, there may be standard billing fee for the entire procedure regardless of the number of components received. If you receive only one component, pay for what you actually got.

* Redundant or shoddy testing — Check bills to guard against your doctors failing to communicate and ordering the same test more often than needed.

It is also not necessary to pay for repeat tests when poor results were caused by the hospital's problems with equipment, labs, or staff.

* Bulk charges — General headings like "nutrition" and "anesthesiology" or long unexplained code numbers should be checked. Ask for an itemized statement.

If you find errors in a hospital bill, put your correction in writing and attach any documentation. Send copies of these statements to the hospital "ombudsman" or "patient advocate" and your insurance company. Be sure to keep one copy.

For more information, call for the National Emergency Medicine Alliance's free booklet on cutting medical costs at (800) 553-0735.

Elderly patients

Consult pharmacist to avoid medication problems

Elderly people on prescribed medications can save time, money and sometimes even their own lives, simply by discussing their medicinal needs with a pharmacist.

The elderly use more than their proportional share of medicines nationwide, so they should be aware of potential problems and dangers they face, says Dr. Mickey Smith, Barnard Distinguished Professor of Pharmacy Administration at The University of Mississippi.

Dr. Smith offers these tips to avoid problems:

— Don't be timid about seeking assistance.

Studies show that elderly patients don't like to "bother" their pharmacists with questions about prescribed medications. But, pharmacists truly want to help, says the Ole Miss professor.

"Pharmacists are required by both federal and state laws to offer counseling on any prescription medication. They're supposed to do it, most of them want to, but often they don't volunteer. That's why it's so important to ask questions about anything that concerns you."

— Pick one pharmacist and stay with him/her.

Don't spread your business across town in search of bargains. Find one pharmacist with the overall best prices and services and don't stray.

"He will be able to keep a complete and accurate record of all your medications," Smith says. This prevents confusion about the patient's medical history and needs.

— Never mix medicines without first consulting your pharmacist.

The more medicines a patient takes, the higher the risk of undesirable interactions. This includes over-the-counter medications, which are still potent drugs.

— Develop a routine to prevent confusion about medicines, dosages and times.

Some drugs are taken several times a day, others once daily. Pharmacists can offer techniques, memory aids and other approaches for safe, effective use of medications.

— Discuss costs with your pharmacist. It's not unusual to have a $300 or $400 monthly medication bill, and that's a lot of money for someone living on Social Security," Smith says. "Pharmacists recognize that, too, and they will work with patients to help save money. Generic drugs and larger prescriptions are just two of the alternatives your pharmacist can offer."

— Avoid mail-order pharmacies.

Smith acknowledges that many patients feel they can save money by ordering their drugs through the mail but feels patients will not get the kind of professional attention they need through this avenue.

Walk to benefit Alzheimer's Association

One in 10 American families reports they have a relative with Alzheimer's disease, and one in three adults says they know someone with the degenerative brain disorder, according to a survey conducted by the Gallup Organization for the Alzheimer's Association.

The new findings suggest the number of diagnosed cases is increasing. Currently, the National Institute on Aging estimates four million Americans are afflicted with the disease. There are approximately 3,500 Alzheimer patients in the coastal counties of Mississippi.

"The actual prevalence of Alzheimer's disease in this country has been difficult to determine, but the results of this survey tell us that this illness is everywhere, striking parents, friends, even sons and daughters," said Wallace Long, president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of the association.

To assist the millions who suffer from this disease, the association will hold the first national Memory Walk on Oct. 2 to raise $3 million for programs to support affected families. Locally, the Memory Walk will take place at the USM-Gulf Park Campus in Long Beach, according to Liz Helwick, chairman.

"In the Gallup study, 41 percent of those who reported family members with Alzheimer's were young adults, ages 18 to 34," Long said. "This is no longer an 'old age' disease. It's affecting Americans in the prime of their lives, whether they have the disease or take care of someone who does."

Founded in 1980, the Alzheimer's Association is the oldest and largest volunteer health organization dedicated to research for the causes, prevention and cure of Alzheimer's disease, and support for patients and families.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast chapter has three support groups on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, with an office in the Bayou View area of Gulfport. Call 867-6251 for more information.
